The Bulletin.

From the Address of Democratic Congressmen Let there be no discussion about minor matters; no time lost in discussion of dead events; no manifestation of narrow or prescriptive feeling; no sacrifice of the cause to gratify personal ambition or resentment.

DEMOCRATIC TICKET.

FOR CONGRESS—STATE AT-LARGE, GEN. WILLIAM B. ANDERSON, Of Jefferson County.
FOR STATE TREASURER, CHARLES RIDGLEY, Of Sangamon County.
FOR SUPERINTENDENT OF PUBLIC INSTRUCTION, CHARLES FEINER, Of Adams County.
FOR PENITENTIARY COMMISSIONER, (LONG TERM), GEN. FRANCIS T. SHERMAN, Of Cook County.
FOR PENITENTIARY COMMISSIONER, (SHORT TERM), THOMAS REDMOND, Of Adams County.
FOR CONGRESS—NINTH DISTRICT, COL. JOHN M. CRENS, Of White Co. FOR SENATORS, 1ST DISTRICT, S. K. GIBSON, Of Gallatin County. THOMAS A. E. HOLCOMB, Of Union Co. FOR REPRESENTATIVE—1ST DISTRICT, H. WATSON WEBB, Of Boone County.
FOR SHERIFF, ALEXANDER H. IRVIN, Of Boone County.
JOHN H. OBERLY.

THE administration proposes to interfere in the coming election in New York city, and is preparing to concentrate troops for that purpose. A knowledge of this fact has made the people who are to be intimidated nervous and restless, and the probabilities are that a bloody riot will be the result.

PRESIDENT Grant and a majority of his cabinet have been attending and betting on a horse race at one of the fashionable resorts in the East. His Excellency takes great interest in horse flesh, cigars and liquor, and very little in public affairs. He is a great political fraud, a tool in the hands of designing politicians, and given to an indulgence in the sports and pastimes of bummers and moral scoundrels.

THE Chicago Tribune and the Missouri Democrat, Radical papers of great influence and ability, have become alarmed at the rapid tendency to centralization in the government. The Democrat, with boldness, denounces President Grant for attempting to dictate the domestic policy of Missouri, and the Tribune follows, but rather timidly, in the footsteps of its St. Louis instructor.

These journals are now acknowledging that the warnings of the Democrats were timely, and if they should be unable to stop the avalanche which they were instrumental in unleashing, they have only themselves to curse.

PEACE negotiations, the telegraph asserts, "are going on actively" between the belligerents in France. That they may be successful is the wish of almost every person in Christendom; but that they will we do not believe. King William and Bismarck, flushed with success, angered, too, by the necessity which compelled them to call Prussia to arms and enter upon the bloody work of war, are not likely to agree to any terms which the French can honorably accept. And, more, the sudden birth of the Republic, its vitality and power, have alarmed them. It is a political ghost which may move them from power if they do not put it down, and, in all probability, they will continue to assail it with a storm of shot and shell. That is short-sighted policy we have no doubt. Sweeping from one victory to another, King William crushed the power of the empire at Sedan, and compelled the man against whom he drew his sword to surrender without conditions. This was the moment in which he might have secured a peace which would have reflected upon him more honor than all the magnificent victories which have added exceeding lustre to the arms of Prussia. But conscious strength seldom ever reasons, and having destroyed the Empire he is now apparently determined to overthrow the Republic which has arisen, like a beautiful exhalation, from its ruins. That he will not succeed we dare not assert. In almost any cause success seeks the side of the most powerful, and in Prussia we recognize a nation of indomitable heroes who have learned to not know any such word as "fail."

TROUBLE IN THE CABINET.

President Grant is unfortunate in more ways than one. He is particularly unfortunate in regard to his cabinet. He cannot obtain one that will "stick." Even the cohesive power of public plunder cannot hold it together. He patches it one day and it falls to pieces the next. Just at this moment it is in process of dissolution. Secretary Cox has been notified to get out, because he would not allow the Radical politicians to rob the clerks in his department by assessments levied for the purpose of securing the election of Radicals to office. Akerman also intends to retire on the plea of ill health, and Fish intends to swim out of the dirty puddle in which he has floundered too long already. Now, if Grant could obtain an accomplished horse-jockey to fill the place of Cox, a bar-tender, skilled in the mysteries of mixed drinks, to step into Akerman's shoes, and a faro-dealer for Secretary of State, he would be perfectly happy, and the administration of the God-and-morality party would wag along in a perfectly satisfactory manner.

THE RESULT OF THE LATE ELECTION.

The "virgin vote" of the negroes of Pennsylvania, Ohio and Indiana was polled at the late elections, and almost solidly for the Radical ticket. But, notwithstanding this fact, the Democrats came out of the conflict with flying colors, and have gained advantages which will be of inestimable value to them in the future.

In Ohio and Pennsylvania the Republican majorities will fall short of the number of negro votes cast in those States, a fact which conclusively proves that the Radical party have lost as much strength as they have gained by forcing negro suffrage upon the country. And in Indiana they have lost more than they have gained. The Democrats have carried the State, obtained a majority of the Legislature and made sure of a Democratic Senator as the successor of Morton in the Senate of the United States.

This result is extremely gratifying to Democrats, and it should arouse the party in Illinois to make a determined effort to wipe out the Radical majority on the second Tuesday in November next. A long pull, a strong pull, and a pull altogether, as they say at sea, will secure this result.

GOV. PALMER'S LATE SPEECH.

Radical stump speakers are peculiar. They have, for a long time, led the people with partisan cries that appealed to the prejudices, and have not hesitated to give utterance to falsehoods of the most stupendous description. So very successful has this policy been that they are yet pursuing it with great industry; and, consequently, whenever they address the people, they "roll back the flag, denounce rebellion, and assert that the Radical party, in its administration of the government, is both honest and economical. This is the speech which Logan makes, and which is repeated by his echo in this district, D. W. Munn. But, occasionally, an honest Radical has the courage to speak the truth, and when he does he is compelled to endorse all the charges of corruption and extravagance laid at the door of the Republican party by the Democracy. This is what Governor Palmer did in his speech at Springfield on Friday night last. He admitted that the Radical administration at Washington was extravagant, and attempted to excuse it on the ground that the people had fallen into extravagant habits, and that, as a consequence, "extravagance in the government is but a sign of the fact that the government is a representative of the people." In other words, that Grant's administration is extravagant because the people it represents are extravagant. "The expenses of the government at present," he said, "are about thirty-three per cent. more than are necessary; the army is too expensive, and the Federal Congress is one of the most extravagant bodies on the earth." But, then, why not, Governor? The people spend thirty-three per cent. more than they ought to, and are the most extravagant people on the earth. Should they not be represented by an administration and Congress who are as careless of the public money as they are of the contents of their purses? The argument is conclusive, and should procure for the Governor a foreign mission.

THAT MONEY, AND WHAT IT WAS USED FOR.

"These men are anxious to know how I live on $84 a year," said Mr. Munn in his late speech in this city. "I can tell them that I received more money for going to Washington City and attending to matters than John M. Crebs should have attended to, than John H. Oberly ever honestly earned in his life."

Mr. Munn, when he made use of this language, knew that he was giving utterance to a palpable falsehood. How much money did Mr. Munn receive from citizens of Cairo for the purpose mentioned?

Some time ago, when there was danger that the land grant in Arkansas, to the Cairo and Fulton road, would be forfeited, if the time for the construction of a certain number of miles of road could not be extended, several citizens of Cairo requested Mr. Munn to go to Washington and do what he could to have the time extended. As is his habit, he replied that he would do so for a consideration. The citizens knowing that Mr. Munn had rendered services to free roads that had obtained for him free passes, and that he could visit Washington cheaper than any other man, then offered to pay his expenses. He consulted Mr. Pope, and was told that he should not work for the wages offered. He was then offered $300. Mr. Pope told him he should not go for less than $500, and the price was fixed at that figure. The money was raised, and Mr. Munn went on his winding way. When he reached the Capital, he found there was nothing for him to do in the business on which he was sent. He accordingly proceeded to work for the removal of Col. Gasham from the post office, and expended about $200 of his money while engaged at that work. He finally returned home, after having done nothing for the railroad, and with a margin of profit amounting to $250.

The bill extending the time in which to build the specified miles of road in Arkansas passed Congress when Crebs, Logan and Munn were all absent from the capital. It went through on its own merits. If the citizens who employed Mr. Munn had kept their money in their pockets Cairo would not have suffered, and a wounded soldier would not have been displaced to make room for the friends of the Cairo Radical clique.

Neighborhood News.

Perry County Items.

The Belleville and Southern Illinois railroad is now finished between Pinckneyville and Du Quoin, and on Tuesday last the editor of the Pinckneyville Banner formed one of the first party gentlemen that passed over the road.

The Pinckneyville Banner says: We have examined a specimen of coal taken from Jones newly opened shaft, and we unhesitatingly pronounce it as good as the best. It is fine, solid and free from dross, and will coke without difficulty. This shaft is on the line of the B. & S. I. R. R. South of town, and the coal (a 7 foot vein) reached at a depth of 35 feet.

The County Court of Perry County has levied a tax of thirty cents on every one hundred dollars worth of taxable property in the county to provide means to pay for the erection of a new jail.

A calf three months old, that gives a pint of milk daily, is to be exhibited at the Du Quoin fair.

Palaski County Items.

The prohibitionists of Palaski county have placed a candidate for Sheriff in the field, in the person of Mr. George Minnich, a gentleman who, if elected, will make a very efficient officer.

A Democratic club has been organized in Mound City with Romeo Frigant as president. One hundred and sixty-two voters signed the constitution on the night of the organization.

Cole Boren is evidently opposed to corporal punishment in the public schools. The following evidence of that fact we take from the Mound City Journal of Saturday:

Cole Boren was arraigned for assaulting with whip C. K. Streeter, principal of the city public schools. Judge Schoyer administered to prisoner a severe reprimand and fined him $50. The prisoner's pleading finally induced the Judge to reduce the fine to $5 beside costs. Boren's grievance was, that Streeter had chastised one of his children in school.

Saline County Items.

The Watson brothers who were indicted for killing Mr. Ed. Keelin, were admitted to bail by Judge Duff in the sum of $3,000.

Real estate seems to be in active demand in Saline county, particularly along the line of the Cairo and Vincennes railroad.

The Illinois Central. The Railroad Gazette says that the traffic on the Illinois Central is now working the rolling stock pretty nearly up to its utmost capacity. Everywhere on the company's lines, from Cairo to Chicago and from Centralia to Sioux City, the crops are enormous—probably the heaviest that were ever known; not that the average acre is larger than in the extraordinary productive season of 1860, but that there is two or three, or more, times as much land under cultivation.

On the other hand, the heavy grain crops in the south, especially in Kentucky and Tennessee, are likely to limit somewhat the demand for corn from Illinois, and have an unfavorable effect on shipments of that grain in that direction over this road. But this decrease in the demand for corn is likely to be made up by the heavy demand for flour, provisions and other products, which may reasonably be expected now that the south is prosperous. Upon the whole, the coming winter promises unusually well for the Illinois Central.

A Railroad Story. We heard a good story on a certain railroad the other day. On this road the train was frequently delayed by cattle upon the track. This had happened several times, and finally the locomotive entered upon a long and slow journey for fifteen miles the train rattled along at a lively jog. All of a sudden, however, the engine began a lively blowing, showing that trouble had come again. At this one individual, who had been watching the trees fly past the windows, and had just persuaded himself into the belief that he was riding into glory at a rate of a league at a breath, jumped up with surprise, and ejaculated: "Well I'll be cursed if I haven't caught up with those darn cattle again!"

Color Blindness. It is well known that some persons can not distinguish colors. The most frequent case probably is inability to distinguish red from green, as the color of the cherry, from that of the leaves around it. This peculiarity is one of the most difficult to detect, on account of the utter impossibility of describing color. Nor are such cases rare. Dr. Wilson, an English authority, finds that one person in 18 has some defect of this kind, and one in 55 confounds red with green. Others mistake red for yellow, yellow for green, pale green for cloudy white, and blue for black.

HAIR RESTORATIVES.

NEW DISCOVERY

PHALON'S

"VITALIA"

OR,

Salvation for the Hair.

For Restoring to Gray Hair its Original Color.

PHALON'S "VITALIA" differs utterly from all the "dyes," "colorers," and "restorers" (?) in use. It acts on a totally different principle. It is limpid, fragrant, and perfectly innocuous, precipitates no muddy or flacculent matter, requires no shaking up, and communicates no stain to the skin or the linens. No paper curtain is necessary to conceal its turbid appearance, for the simple reason that it is not turbid. It is, to all intents and purposes, A NEW DISCOVERY in Toilet Chemistry.

PHALON'S "VITALIA" is warranted to effect a change in the color of the hair within 10 days after the first application, the directions being carefully observed.

IT IS AS CLEAR AS WATER! AND HAS NO SEDIMENT.

Price, One Dollar per Box, CONTAINING TWO BOTTLES.

SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

If your Druggist has not "Vitalia" on hand, write, enclosing $1.00, and we will forward it immediately.

Stomach Bitters

The Best Tonic Stimulant Known to the Medical Faculty.

Indorsed by every physician who has examined them, among whom are some of the most eminent in the city, as being the best and purest made. These Bitters are prepared from the most valuable roots, barks and leaves of the medical science, and are unequalled as a preventive and cure for and all diseases arising from malarious causes.

St. Louis, Mo. July 1870, 1870.

Messrs. JAMES A. JACKSON & CO., Gentlemen: The undersigned having recently had the opportunity to test the value of the various compounds known under the name of "Stomach Bitters," wishes to compliment you upon the happy combination of ingredients which constitute your "Home Bitters." Upon being first made acquainted with the receipt of your preparation, I was at once convinced that its use would prove highly beneficial to all those who stand in need of a similar article, and since I have observed its effects in my private practice, I can only commend it as the best tonic now offered to the public, one whose invigorating properties will be of equal advantage to the invalid, the convalescent and the well.

C. GENOUE, M. D., 915 Franklin Avenue.

Memphis, Tenn., Sept. 12, 1870.

It gives me pleasure to add mine to the many testimonials shown me in regard to the worth of the "Home Stomach Bitters." I have used them, and examined the formula of which they are composed, and pronounce them the most agreeable and best stomachic I have ever tried, and would recommend them more especially in malarious regions as an anti-periodic.

JOS. E. LYNCH, M. D.

Dr. DRAKE MEDICAL, late President of the Missouri Medical College, writes, dated 9 July 1870, "I have used the 'Home Bitters' for the purpose of preparing the 'Home Bitters,' and have found them to be the most valuable remedy I have ever used, and I can only commend it as the best tonic now offered to the public, one whose invigorating properties will be of equal advantage to the invalid, the convalescent and the well."

St. Louis, Mo. July 12, 1870.

Messrs. J. A. JACKSON & CO., as messrs. giving me your "Home Bitters" on the effects on my stomach, and the valuable use in their composition, I am satisfied that, aside from the containing nothing in nature, they are the best I have ever used. It is with pleasure that I recommend them to all persons desirous of taking medicine. JOHN T. TEMPLE, M. D., Prof. Med. and Therapeutics, Missouri College of Medicine.
